De Facto Software develops custom enterprise resource planning (ERP) software, e-commerce websites, and mobile apps for UK-based businesses from a diverse range of industries. By replacing its aging storage area network (SAN) system with a Lenovo ThinkSystem DE4000F All Flash Storage Array, De Facto boosted performance, capacity, and cost-efficiency. Virtual machines now load faster, helping users to work more productively to develop innovative software solutions tailored to clients' unique needs.

“Lenovo all-flash storage offered the best price per TB, and the pre-sales experience was head and shoulders above the competition, making it an easy decision to go with Lenovo.”

Simon Fortt,
Technical Manager,
De Facto Software
