

Focusing on business, not maintenance

Optics manufacturer

One of the world's largest high-tech manufacturing and assembly companies specializing in optics, this company's lenses underpin imaging solutions such as cameras, infrared sensors, and machine vision for robotics. With business booming, the company is expanding rapidly—and so too is the infrastructure in its data centers. By outsourcing the operations and maintenance of more than 450 devices to an expert team from Lenovo, the company can keep operations on track while focusing more time and resources on R&D, innovation, and business growth.
